the honor of a discovery, the road to which was so nobly and daringly trodden by one of the boldest adventurers of the age. Some doubts, it is known, have been expressed as to whether Dr. Kane really discovered an open sea at the Pole, and it now remains for his former companion, Dr. Hayes, to set these doubts at rest forever. He enters upon the difficult project with confidence and pluck that augur well for success, and we sincerely hope that his enterprise may be rewarded with the realization of his expectations.

ADVERTISING IN METROPOLITAN JOURNALS .-The advertising business of the metropolitan papers has not been confined alone to New York for some time past. We have repeatedly advertised for people in New Orleans, Philadelphia, Boston, Montreal and other cities; but under the new system of distribution by express trains, whereby the metropolitan morning papers are delivered in Albany, Troy and all the intermediate stations before breakfast, and in Buffalo, Cleveland and Montreal by tea time, merchants in those places, seeing the New York journals in the hands of their fellow-citi zens on the day of publication, and being read on all the railroads, will very probably discover that the metropolitan newspapers are the best mediums for advertising their business: and thus we shall have to classify our foreign advertisements under the heads of the different cities and towns. By and bye New York will be furnishing all the newspaper facilities for the entire country.

The strangers have manifested great curiosity at the sights presented here, and are desirous of investigating the mechanical and other peculiarities of the city. They seem higaly pleased with the attention bestowed upon them.

The usual accounts have been received from the Washoe silver mines during the week. The news was as favorable as ever.

Philadrina, April 1, 1860.

The suit of the assignees of the Bank of Pennsylvania vs. John Miller, the late postmaster, was concluded this morning. Justice Read in charging the jury, was severe in his strictures in regard to the morality and legality of the transactions between alibone, the President of the Bank and Mr. Miller, the United States officer, who was prohibited under a heavy line and imprisonment from entering into such negotiations. The jury rendered a verdict of twenty-seven thousand odd dollars, being the sum received by Miller for the purchase of the bank property by the government for the Post office, with interest.

The proceedings of the Democratic State Conventi efferson City yesterday, were not very harmonious and little progress was made. The Committee on resolutions agreed upon a platform which will be presented this norning, endorsing the main features of Mr. Buchanan's morning, endorsing the main features of Mr. Buchanan's administration; affirming that neither Congress nor Territorial Legislatures have the power to aboliah or prohibit the introduction of slavery in the Territories; repudiating the doutrine of Stephen A. Douglas, of unfriendly legislation; favoring the Foguitre Slave law; charging the invasion of Virginia as the legitimate result of the teachings of the republican party; repudiating the sterestyped charge of disunion sentiments no often repeated for party effect against the democratic party, and denouncing the doctrine of the irrepressable conflict. On State politics, as regards the railroad issue, it is proposed to refer it to the people at the next election, asserting, however, that it is alike the duty and for the interest of the State to encourage a judicious system of internal improvements within the constitutional limit of the State debt.

The low lands along the Monongaheta and Allegheny rivers are completely inundated. The rise cam so suddenly that several coal boats on the Monongaheta were swept over the dam and sunk. The number lost was thirteen, the loss being over $16,000. The loss in Allegheny has been considerable. Several manufactories were flooded, and families, in some instances, were driven from their dwellings. The railroads also have suffered by land silides, which have impeded travel. Altogether, it has been one of the most destructive freshets experienced for many years. The rivers have now mostly attained the highest stage, rising but about an inch per hour. The Monongaheta pier mark indicates twenty nine feet and four inches—only twenty inches less than the great freshet of 1852.

CIRVELADD, April 21, 1860.

The heavy rains of the past rew days have resulted in considerable obstruction to the railroads in the State. Black Republicam Defeat in Wiscomsin.

THE STATE ERTURNING TO ITS ALLEGIANCE.
Hon. Luther S. Dixon, the Union and democratic candidate for Chief Justice, has defeated the black republican candidate in Wiscomsin by nearly six thousand majority. The vote throughout the State was large.

The issue, as stated by the Milwankee Nees, the democratic organ, was "the Union and constitution, with Judge Dixon as the standard bearer, on the one hand, and nullification, represented by Judge Sloan, on the other." We congratulate Wisconsin then, upon a glorious democratic triumph, the most signal, and in every sense, the most important ever achieved in the Western States—indicating unmistakeably, that the reaction in public sentiment has reached its flood, and that the people of Wisconsin, disgusted with the dectrine of nullification as carried out in full force and effect there during the past six years by rampant republican abolitionism, are resolved hence. sin, disgusted with the dootrine of nullification as carried out in full force and effect there during the past six years by rampant republican abolitionism, are resolved henceforth to maintain the supremacy of the constitution and the authority of Acts of Congress pronounced constitutional and binding upon the people and courts of the several States by the Supreme Court of the United States. Never was an issue more fully and fairly presented to the people of a State than at this election. Some years since—in 1853, we believe—Sherman M. Booth, editor of Never was an issue more fully and fairly presented to the people of a State than at this election. Some years since—in 1853, we believe—Sherman M. Booth, editor of an abolition paper in Milwaukee, was tried before the United States District Court of Wisconsin, for alleged violation of the Fugitive Slave law, in alding to rescue a fugitive slave from the custody of the United States Marshal, of which offence he was convicted, fined one thousand dollars, and sentenced to a term of imprisonment. He was immediately brought before the Supreme Court of Wisconsin upon habeas corpus, and speedily liberated. That Court decided that the Fugitive Slave law was unconstitutional, and that for a violation of its provisions no citizen of the State should be deprived of his liberty, or made to suffer pusisbment.

By direction of the authorities at Washington the case was carried to the Supreme Court of the United States, which Court announced its decision, reversing the decision of the Supreme Court of Wisconsin. In the meantime, the death of Chief Justice Whiton created a vasancy on that bench, and Gov. Randail (republican) appointed Luther S. Dixon to fill the vacancy. The case was brought before him in January last, and the point raised that the Supreme Court of the United States had not appellate jurisdiction from the State courts in cases arising under the laws of the United States. Judge Dixon gave an opinion at once, that the United States Supreme court has such jurisdiction under the Judgicary act of 1887, in some cases, if not in all—from which opinion, however, Justice Cole desented, and no formal or valid decision was made.

The announcement of Judge Dixon's opinion, threw the whole abolition camp into uproar and consternation. The "dogs of war" were let losse upon him, and the determination accompany of the season of the republican party (embracing the larger portion of old in the abolition platform, and was marked as a certain and speedy victim to party vengeance. A Republican state Convention assembled in Februar

The Trade of Salvador.

[From the Panama Star and Herald, March 24]
The Central American States appear to be fast improving in their commerce. From the statistics of Salvador, published recently, for the fiscal year ending September, 1859, we observe that the importations during the past year have been $1,306,378, being an increase of $226,987 over the previous year, and the exportations amounted to $1,991,650, showing an increase of $994,908 over 1859.
This rapid growth in the commerce of this State may be mainly attributed to the opening up of the country's resources by the line of steamers connecting it with Panama, and the more immediate contact into which foreigners have been consequently brought with that portion of the continent, which for want of proper fasilities for communication has hitherto been almost entirely isolated from the rest of the world.

ANOTHER SUB-MARINE CARLE.—It is said that government intends laying down a submarine cable, connecting Penagg on the north with Rangoon, and on the south with Singapore, Batavia, China, and the Australian colonies. The Zenobia, which came down from Bombay with 42 convicts transported to this island, and 15 time expired men, was employed in taking soundings for the Red Sea cable, and in some places the depth was found to be 2,000 fathoms, taking five to six hours to make one dip of the line. She will, we hear, proceed from hence to Junk Caylon and Mergui for a similar purpose after the arrival of the Calcutta steamer, by which she expects charts and further orders.—London Globe.

INTERESTING FROM UTAH.

A fellow correspondent, whose epistics take a western direction, was quite dull at the departure of last mail, because he had no deed of blood to record. Habit is a onsiderably to Quakerism on the shedding of blood doc announcement that we have no murders to record by this mail, and, so far as a neutral can take cognizance of the both are somewhat anxious to catch an early simpse of the summer's programme. That there is active wireworking going on at the capital is a matter of common talk and cortainty, and the arrival of a mail or express is a big occasion for development of curiosity and language. Everybody is auxious to learn the news and everybody has a rumor for his neighbor. The Gentiles have, however, most cor-tainly the advantage at the present time. The mail and post office are both in their hands. I have often thought that it must be very annoying to the Mormons to see an express arrive from the East, and then see another express immediately despatched to Camp, and still they are kept in glorious ignorance till the lumbering slow mail arrangement comes in, and that frequently with only a por-tion of the mail matter. One of these expresses arrived here on Tuesday evening, by which, I believe, the Mormons also received late advices from Washingtonwhether direct or through their neighbors is of no con of the proposition of Senator Green for dividing up this Territory between the proposed Territories of Nevada and Jefferson; likewise of the recommendations of Mesers. Morrill and Stevens for the punishment of polygamy. These gentlemen may rest assured that the here have their plans chalked out. One the reliable men of the city told me headquarters. There was no fuss nor flurry-a general smile and the quiet assurance from a chief, that should, rights which they now enjoy, and which other citizens movement. A new State would be o rganized, and its defence attempted at every cost. The above is reliable; it is the determination of the men who have influence bere. There can never be a second Echo Kanyon affair with the same termination. Unless, therefore, a grand smash up is contemplated, there is no use in bundering on to some half way measure. The Mormons are fully satisfied that they have no political privileges beyond those epjoyed by every community. They will never accept of iess. Hence any such measure as that proposed by Senator Green is regarded as an attempt upon their rights, and these they will defond. A little reflection will suffice on this matter. The Mormons may be branded as fanatics. None, bowever, who know them will ever believe that they would quietly submit to be broken up. Senator Green is regarded generally as an old enemy, the better acquainted with wireworking (see contractor constituents). Missouri is a great State for contractors, and furnished a large amount of quairupeds for the road. t is the determination of the men who have influence

During the present week we have had the visit of a large occutation of the Sposhone Indians, from the northern portion of the Territory. They came over the mountains to the Box Elder settlement, on annw shear arthur more than the settlement of the sposhone indians. During the present week we have had the visit of a large exputation of the Shoshone Indians, from the northern portion of the Territory. They dame over the mountains to the Box Elder settlement, on snow shoes, rather more tattered than modestly Andile in arriving within a few miles of this place they fraternized with a lodge of Weber Utes, camped in the neighborhood of the famous hot springs, and, united, they made quite a show in presenting themselves before the Governor. His Excollency, by the by, in addition to discharging gubernatorial duties, is presently, and has been this last six months, Secretary of the Territory, and for about the same time he has flgured as Superintendent of Indian Affairs. The Governor's obligite disposition to his associates in federal offices has become so marked and sociable, that it was jocularly reported that he was ready to oblige the government by assuming the command of the army on the departure of General Johnston, and attending to all the other civil and judicial offices under the patronage of the administration. Throwing aside, however, the jeke and the spice, I ammuch inclined to think that his Excellency, endowed with all those "gitts and caltings," would be able to give a much better account of Utal, do more justice to the people and honor to the government, than what has ever been done here through the uncessing chicanery that has ever marked federal administration here.

Returning to notice the Indians generally, I regret to say that the poor red skins throughout a large portion of the Territory are very sick, not mysteriously so. There are facts which the pen must not bring into daylight, within a circuit of thirty miles round the camp and all along the route towards California there is great sickness. I saw a gentleman yesterday, very recently from the Rio Virgin, who tells me that the ravages of abomination have made and have among the Pi-Uoss Within six months, from different parts of the Territory, I have learned of the shooting of as many as half a dozen squaws than the Simboles. Buttor their tawy sain they would have passed for comfortable farmers. They had just come from camp.

THE Surveyor General, I understand, has recommended to the department at Washington; the immediate extinguishment of the Indian title to the lands in this Territory, and the establishment of a land office for the sale of the public lands already surveyed, amounting, it is said, to upwards of two millions of acres. This is considered here a very commendable recommendation. The country is increasing rapidly in population, and thousands of industrious and respectable citizens are anxious to obtain the government title to their lands, under existing pre-emption laws, or otherwise. Until the Indian cocupancy is disposed of by treaty stipulations, and the Indians (in some districts very trooblesome at present) are estiled upon a reservation, remote from the white settlements, the ouward march of prosperity will be retarded. Indeed, the Indian Department in this Territory, as it has been governed for some time past, meets with almost universal condemnation; and if the folly and extravagance practised could be known at Washington, it would most certainly be put an end to, or, at least, checked in its infultious progress.

The agents of Russell, Majors and Waddell, government contractors, are now notively engaged in preparations for the forthcoming experiment of linking the Atlantic with the Pacific in six days lively exercise of mule flesh and telegraph. Mr. B. F. Fickin, the western Superintendent of the concern, arrived here on Tuesday, and has already his "subs" out purchasing horses and preparing the way for a quick run to the Pacific.

For the first two months the company will attempt to make from St. Joseph, Mo., to Sacramento, Cal., in ten days. When everything is in working order they expect to shridge that two did on the retained here of the company by ability to carry out their project in the given time.

It is not such a great undertaking as it sounds. Three hundred head of horses and a hu

Capt. Gibson is still a popular lecturer. I forward you a full report of his second lecture in the Tabornacie. He delivered his third lecture there last evening. The Captain has made quite an impression on many of the faithful, and I honesily believe that many of them long for the balmy breezes of Oceanica. The Captain has no doubt but that he could raise quite a regiment of sturdy colonists to accompany him to the islands.

Reports from Europe and from the States favor a large emigration this season across the Plains. A goodly company of Mormon merchants and business men leave here on Monday for the East. I understand that some go to purchase for this market, others for private persons, who units their small capitals on the domestic economy principle, and others are sent to purchase machinery for the encouragement of home manufacture.

Going to Nerrarka.—The Buffalo Repress says:—We understand that some six hundred of the German citizens of Buffalo are interested in a flourishing settlement, to which the name of "Arago" has been given, on the Miscouri river, in the southern part of Nebraska Territory. A sort of a league of association, it seems, was formed, and about four thousand acres of land purchased for a settlement. In the town of Arago, which has been laid out on the river, there are now about two hundred inhabitants, and it promises to become a thriving place. A considerable company of new settlers are going up this spring we believe.

ACADRMY OF MUSIC-ADMINA PATT IN "DON PARQUALIL". One of the pleasantest of Italian comes operas is Doni it's "Don Pasquale." It is too rarely performed in country, because it depends for its success in a good de-gree upon some acquaintance, on the part of the au-dience with the language in which the librotto is written. Speaking theatrically, it is a musical farce in three acts, and with scarcely plot enough for one. There is, however, ample room for fun in the situations, and the music is full of charming little bits which must have been suggested to the composer in his happiest moods. Altogether, "Dot Pasquale" is an opera for the connoisseurs rather than the public, and therefore the very large attendance at the Academy last night proved, in the strongest poss ble manner, that Adelina Pattl's place with the metropoli-tan audience is a fixed and permanent one. Her Norina will be accounted among her best rötes. She assumes it with the souvenirs of Piccolomini fresh in the public mind, and without instituting any comparisons, we may say, in all verity, that Miss Patti's performance was in every way satisfactory, even to those who most admired her illustrious predecessor. The Norina of tast night gave to the brilliant and florid music all the resources of to the brilliant and florid music all the resources of her splendid voice and thorough executive abilities. She acted with the most delicious maineté and abandon, and looked charmingly. The scene with Don Pasquale in the second act was capitally done, and links Patti fairly conquered the audience as well as her antique admirer. The distribution was very good throughout. Brignoli's Nemorino is well known as one of his best rôles, and he nover sang it with more veres than on last night. Forri was a good Malatesta, and Susuli's Pasquale, though a little ponderous at times, was on the whole a clever performance. Muzic conducted his excellent orchestra with his usual skill, and the whole performance gave great satisfaction. "Don Pasquale" will be given again on Friday and also for the Saturday matinee.

Italian Opera season opened last night under the direction of Max Maretzek, whose resumption of the impressario's baton in New York was welcomed by continued and bearty plaudits. The opera selected for the opening night was "Lucia di Lammermoor," with Madame Pepita Gassier as Lucia, Signor Gassier as Ashton, and the new tenor, Acchille Errani, in the rôle of Edgardo. Signo and Signora Gassier are too well known to the habitues of the Opera to require any comments farther than to say that Signora Gassier fully sustained her reputation as an artiste possessing an incomparable voice and excellent Gassier sang with great spirit, and was evidently i fine voice. Errani possesses not only a voice of fine com pass, exquisitely pure and true, but he is alike strong and sweet, from the lowest tenor notes up to B flat. His perthroughout the opera was exceedingly graceful and animated. On the whole, the debut of the new tenor was very mated. On the whole, the debut of the new tenor was very promising, and if we are not mistaken, he will occupy before long a prominent position in the estimation of a New York audience. His reception last night was of a very flattering kind, he and Mme Gassier being called before the curtain between the first two acts and very warmly applicated. The opera was put on the stage by Mr. Maretzek in unexceptionable style; the orchestra was very full and in perfect training under the gudance of the indomisable impressario; the chorus was strong and effective, and the misteen scree quite up to the mark. Altogether the Winter Garden Opera season commenced prosperously, the audience being as appreciative as the deserts of the artists and the manager demanded. To night the new prima donna, Signora Fabbri, whose fame has preceded ber to the Unite! States, makes her debut in the rôle of Violetta in the "Traviata," supported by the tonor Errain. Fabbri comes here with antecedents of the most promising character, and we doubt not that her debut, together with the success of the new tenor, will crown Maretzek's enterprise at Winter Garden.

Max Maretzek is about to produce "La Zingara," the Italian version of Balfe's over popular "Bohemian Girl." at the Winter Garden.
